

1. Raw data is taken from multiple institutional sources

2. This data is filtered, classified, and structured in a database

3. Results are obtained through models and patterns

4. The results are shared to be interpreted and assessed